Government To Postpone OK of Liquor Imports

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19—Government officials have decided to reject applications for permission to import ... quor in advance of prohibition repeal.

Applications to import nearly 3,000,000 gallons are on file.

No reason was given, but it was understood the administration wanted to hold America's potential consumption of foreign liquors as an instrument of trade bargaining with other nations.

While supplies of medicinal liquor have been materially reduced through the Celler law permitting unrestricted physicians' prescriptions, officials felt by rectification of the stocks on hand there would be a sufficient quantity to meet the first few months' demand and that the question of imports could be postponed.

DELEGATES ARRIVE FOR CHURCH MEET

Council To Take Action On Request for U.S. Funds

Will Consider Resolution Authorizing Application for Federal Loan.

City council Monday night is expected to authorize Service Director E. O. Uncapher and City Solicitor Carter M. Patton to ask the federal government for funds to build a municipal water plant when a survey, to be made by funds now being raised by the Citizens' committee, is completed.

Councilman Henry O'Dowd, member of the franchise and ordinance committee which has been studying utility rates and questions for council for several months, said this proposed action will be in accord with a request made by the Citizens' committee last August. He also said the action contemplated Monday night was being taken to show Marion residents that council is in favor of the movement of the Citizens' committee to raise funds for the survey.

Whether this action by council will help or hinder the drive for funds was raised today by J. W. Jacoby, secretary of the Citizens' committee.

"I fear that action by council at this time will be construed as a political move and may possibly hinder the drive for funds," Jacoby said. He said the committee has made every effort to date to keep politics out of the municipal ownership movement.

O'Dowd, on the other hand, said the action will be no more than fulfillment of the promise council gave the citizens committee in August.

A divergence of opinion apparently exists among councilmen regarding the action to be taken Monday night. One council official said he was of the opinion that council would authorize a "preliminary application for funds for a water plan" Monday night and that this application would be given support later by the findings made in the survey proposed by the citizens' committee. Another council member predicted that the action planned by council would not be regarded as being in accordance with the program of the citizens' utility committee.

Councilman O'Dowd said councilmen had agreed in a caucus session to take action Monday night on the proposed request for funds.

Two other developments in the municipal ownership situation came today. One was an announcement by L. A. Boulay, Ohio engineer for the federal works administration, to The Associated Press

Ex-Senator Scores Ohio Government

White Leadership Assailed in Speech by Roscoe McCulloch.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 19—An attack upon the present Democratic state administration was voiced by Roscoe C. McCulloch, former United States senator from Ohio, with the preface "I am not a candidate for any office."

The attack, designed as the Republican rally cry for 1934, included castigation of Ohio governmental affairs as "without constructive and courageous leadership" and was followed by a plea that Republicans select a candidate for governor "who has a program that will give the people some relief and the courage, the ability and the integrity to carry it out when elected."

McCulloch told the Young Men's Republican club that "the restoration of honest popular government in Ohio must be accomplished through the instrumentality of the Republican party—an alert, militant party, fighting in the open, fearlessly and intelligently for a higher standard of politics and a better state government.

"The Democratic party can be of no service to the people under present conditions which include boss domination, insincerity of purpose and questionable associations.

"Its control of the executive and legislative branches of the state government for two more years is unthinkable and invites economic disaster and political shame."

Assails White Record

The former senator arraigned the administration's sales tax proposals, creation of seven additional state commissions, "lack of a constructive or sincere effort" to reduce the burden of governmental expense, operation of the highway department, control of a road pa-

C. of C. Gives Support To All Civic Movements

Problems of Citywide Importance Are Given Attention; Even Broader Program Planned.

A series of articles, of which this is the third, to bring published by The Star to acquaint its readers with activities of the Chamber of Commerce, which will conduct a membership drive next week.

BY BOB BYRD

Marion Star Staff Writer

In line with its program of community service, the Chamber of Commerce has been identified with practically every civic movement of citywide importance in the recent history of Marion, performing dozens of valuable services that often are overlooked by the average person.

Although the Chamber has left a trail of diversified civic activities in its wake during the last year, it has felt the need for an even broader program of work of this nature. Chamber officials asserted as they completed preparations for an intensive membership drive to be conducted Oct. 24-28.

Map Broader Program

A broadened program of civic work will be one of the forward steps taken if the membership drive produces the results hoped for by Chamber leaders. They assert that the Chamber must be adequately financed and backed up by an enthusiastic show of civic spirit among Marion residents if full benefit is to be obtained from the work of the Chamber in this and other fields.

One of the most extensive civic or public undertakings handled through the Chamber in recent

Friday Last Day for Tax Payments Without Penalty

Ten Per Cent To Be Attached To Unpaid Assessments, Treasurer Warns.

Marion county residents have one more day to pay real estate taxes due in the last June and the preceding December tax collection periods before a 10 per cent penalty is added, County Treasurer K. C. Smallwood reminded them today.

Unless payments come in rapidly today and Friday, nearly $14,000 in penalties will be added to unpaid June and December tax bills totaling approximately $100,000, the treasurer said.

Penalties which ordinarily would have been added several months ago after the close of the last December collection have been waived by the state legislature to give taxpayers until Friday to make payments without penalties, Mr. Smallwood explained.

As the deadline for these payments and for June collection period payments neared the treasurer said his receipts in the June period to date total $503,296.96. This money will be turned over to the county auditor for distribution among the subdivisions of the county.

The deadline for payments of personal property tax also is approaching, the treasurer said. Although no final date for payments has been fixed, it is expected that the collection period will end on or shortly after Nov. 1, he said. Personal property taxes received to the current collection total $21,620.09, he said.

EMPIRE STEEL PLANTS SOLD

Reorganization Committee Buys All But Cleveland Properties.

$1,334,500 WILL BE PAID

William H. Davey of Canton Buys Rolling Mills for $147,000.

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., Oct. 19. The Empire Steel corporation's properties, with the exception of the Cleveland plant, today were virtually in the hands of the Empire Sheet & Tin Plate Co., a concern newly incorporated by the reorganization committee of the old corporation.

Confirmation of federal Judge Samuel H. West at Cleveland is all that remains to make binding the public sale which several hundred persons watched on the steps of the Richland county courthouse yesterday afternoon in which the reorganization committee bid in all but the Cleveland plant for $1,334,500.

Plan Opening

William H. Davey who now operates the Canton Tin Plate Co. at Canton and who was a founder of companies which preceded Empire Steel, secured the Empire rolling mills at Cleveland on a bid of $147,000.

Davey said the Cleveland plant will be rushed into shape for operation by Nov. 1, with the installation of new machinery, provided the sale is confirmed.

John A. Hadden, Cleveland attorney representing the reorganization committee, said the Empire plant here, which has been the only one in recent operation, will continue to operate under Receiver C. H. Henkel. The Empire Steel corporation has been in receivership since May, 1931.

Bids on Properties

In the auction yesterday mortgaged land and buildings here were sold for $600,000 mortgaged properties of Ashtabula for $110,000 and unmortgaged parcels here and at Niles and Ashtabula for $6,250.00. At Niles, the Empire Steel corporation has owned the Falcon, Thomas and Waddell mills.

Davey is one of several brothers well known to northern Ohio steel circles. About two decades ago he acquired the National Rolling Mills Co. here. In 1914 he reorganized it as the Mansfield Sheet & Tin Plate Co. When a merger which created Empire Steel corporation in 1928 was arranged, Davey withdrew from the company because of ill health.

BOY ACCIDENTALLY KILLS SCHOOL CHUM

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, O., Oct. 19.—Chief of Police Curtis Berry of Newark, announced today that Raymond Fry, 17, has confessed he accidentally shot and killed 12-year-old Carl Drumm in his home here this morning.

Berry said Fry told him at first that Carl committed suicide because he had been moved into a new neighborhood and brooded over the separation from his old school companions. Later, Berry asserted, the boy told him he shot young Drumm while playing with a pistol.

U. S. Officials Renew Work on Lindbergh Case

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20. Recent success in rounding up kidnapers has prompted the department of justice to undertake a fuller, coordinated investigation of the 20-months-old Lindbergh kidnaping.

Sanctioned by President Roosevelt in his desire to consolidate all kidnaping investigations under the justice department, the move follows disclosure of the withdrawal from the case of the lone income tax investigator that has been working on it.

This agent, Frank Wilson, of Capone income tax investigation fame, was taken off the case by Elmer L. Irey, chief of the internal revenue bureau's intelligence unit.

They refused to discuss the matter further, but it was learned Wilson's withdrawal had White House approval.

At the same time Attorney General Cummings, after conferences with the President, ordered J. Edgar Hoover, director of the justice department's division of investigation, to assume jurisdiction over federal activities in the Lindbergh case.

Justice investigators offered their services at Hopewell during early phases of the Lindbergh tragedy, along with other federal officers of the various departments, but they withdrew from the case many months ago, but Wilson, ace of the Irey's staff, remained to devote all his time to running down clues.

Officials said that in taking Wilson off the case no criticism of his work was implied.

STRIKING MINER IS SLAIN IN ILLINOIS

Killed as Thousands Flock To Springfield for Protest Demonstration.

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 19. A progressive miner from Taylorville was shot and killed today as thousands of his comrades flocked into Springfield on a protest march while an announcement was awaited on the NRA's decision about the Illinois union conflict.

Melville Staples, 31, of Taylorville, was fatally shot through the chest a half block from the headquarters of the progressive union. The assailant escaped. Officials did not know the motive for the shooting.

Staples and other Taylorville progressives had been "striking" for union recognition for more than a year. At the time of the shooting several thousand miners were pouring into Springfield for a protest demonstration.

State highway and Springfield police guarded the doors to the state house and delegation after delegation of miners and their wives were turned away.

MOB OF 1,000 LYNCHES MAN

Governor of Maryland Places Blame on Judge, Attorney.

ATTACKED AGED WOMAN

Negro Seized at Jail After Battle With State Police.

By The Associated Press

PRINCESS ANNE, Md., Oct. 19.—Responsibility for the lynching of George Armwood, Negro, who was dragged from the jail here last night and hanged from a tree near the town limits was placed today by Governor Albert C. Ritchie squarely on the shoulders of Judge Robert F. Duer and State's Attorney John B. Robins.

Governor Ritchie directed Judge Duer and Robins "to take immediate action for the apprehension of those who were responsible for or participated in the lynching."

Armwood, brought back here from Baltimore less than 17 hours earlier to face accusations of attacking an aged white woman, was wrenched from the protection of 25 state policemen last night and his body was finally left in a gasoline-soaked pyre on the main business corner.

1,000 in Mob

The mob of more than a thousand men, women and youths, stopped temporarily by a tear gas attack from the state police, entered the jail and dragged the Negro out into the street.

Eight defenders of the jail fell during the attack, cut by flying stone and bricks. Among them was Captain McK. Johnson, head of the state police who was knocked unconscious. Several members of the mob were seen being carried away.

Armwood was arrested Monday

Comedy Relief

(Will Rogers Special)

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Oct. 19. Nothing really serious in this country can ever happen, for right in the middle of serious trouble will come up some fool thing. The world is about to go to war. "Farm mortgages are selling for 50 cents a bushel." "The American dollar is bouncing like a rubber check."

But in the midst of all this Washington is excited and about to declare a special session of congress over Baby Leroy and Jackie Cooper's salary.

If the government starts regulating everybody's salaries you are going to have this country clogged up with dollar-a-year men again. Thousands pay voluntarily to see Baby Leroy, but before they can get the senate gallery full, free of admission, they have to advertise that two senators probably will kill each other.

That's what makes us a great country. The little things are serious and the big ones are not.

Yours,

Will Rogers

GOVERNOR MAY CALL TROOPS

North Dakota Executive Plans Action in Move To Boost Prices.

SEES BENEFIT ALREADY

Railroads Expected To Seek Court Order To Test Validity.

By The Associated Press

BISMARCK, N. D., Oct. 19.—Railroads in North Dakota today defied Governor William Langer's wheat embargo order, while the adjutant general's office made plans to use National Guardsmen to halt the carriers from shipping wheat from the state.

In the absence of Adjutant General Earle Sarles, Assistant Adjutant General Herman A. Brocopp said the National Guardsmen would be mobilized to enforce the governor's order.

Reports that the railroads were accepting wheat for shipment from the state and that grain was crossing state lines brought from Brocopp the comment that as soon as official word was available the embargo order had been violated. National Guard companies would be dispatched. He said, however, that it was possible no action would be taken until Sarles' arrival later today.

Representatives of four railroads decided they would "abide by the laws of congress" in accepting any wheat shipments for outside points, subject to delay and denied the governor's right to order an embargo.

Gov. Langer said in reply to the railroads he would rely on the adjutant general to enforce the embargo order. He declared he had no intention of revoking his proclamation and that it would continue in effect indefinitely unless the courts voided it.

The national guard has 1,300 men in various parts of the state. Sarles said enough guardsmen could be mobilized in 12 hours to "cover every railroad bridge and highway between North Dakota and Minnesota."

Railroad men said wheat had moved into Minnesota near Fargo since the embargo proclamation became effective at 12:01 a. m. today.

Railroad officials received instructions from head offices to notify shippers wheat might be held up because of the governor's proclamation, but that they were ready to accept wheat shipments.

The governor said he was acting under a 1933 legislative act authorizing him to declare an embargo when the price of wheat fell below the cost of production.

He said he expected some attempt to be made to obtain a restraining order from the federal court, but that unless the court's decided the embargo law was unconstitutional every effort would be made to enforce the proclamation.

The governor declared his proclamation ordering the embargo had already had a "highly beneficial" effect in raising the price of wheat.

Attorneys for the railroads, the Northern Pacific, Great Northern, the Soo lines and the Milwaukee, on the other hand, decided at St. Paul that "a state has no power to place an embargo on the export of articles produced within the state," and that the line would "abide by the laws of congress" in accepting any wheat shipments for outside points, subject to delay. In some quarters it was expected that the first wheat shipment halted by guardsmen would result in four railroads seeking a restraining order in a United States district court.

BRICKER ASKED FOR REPEAL VOTE RULING

Apparent Conflict in Two Laws Results in Request To Attorney General.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 19.—A decision on whether repeal ballots can be scratched, Nov. 7, was sought of Attorney General John W. Bricker, today.

Secretary of State George Myers, who discovered an apparent conflict between the state's general election laws and the requirements of the Mosier legislation, authorizing it, asked for the ruling.

The Mosier bill provided for three tickets of 52 delegates each: one for ratification of the Twenty-first amendment, or for repeal; one against, and one neutral.

No neutral ticket was filed. The ballots Nov. 7 will bear the names of 52 repeal convention delegations and 52 anti-repealists.

The Mosier legislation carried this instruction to voters: "Mark a cross mark in the circle. If you do this, make no other mark. To vote for an individual candidate, make a cross mark in the square at the left of the name."

The general election laws allow voters to mark the circle at the head of a ticket and then crossing over to pick out an individual candidate in an opposing party.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a sick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

No Cooking! No Work! Real Saving!

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in more homes than any other cough remedy, because it gives more prompt, positive relief. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Syrup is easily made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. This gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money, and it's a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes fine.

Instantly you feel its penetrating effect. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm, clears the air passages, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief in severe coughs.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, used for generations for its healing effect on throat membranes. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

"THIS DAY AND AGE" WITH CHILDREN OF STARS, AT PALACE

"This Day and Age," a picture which has been given big reviews and recently was given an editorial in a popular weekly magazine will be shown Friday and Saturday at the Palace.

The picture is primarily a picture of youth, of high school boys who clean up a town. Richard Cromwell and Judith Allen play the leading roles. The interesting part about the cast is that it numbers the sons of so many famous actors—Wallace Reid Jr. Carlyle Blackwell, Jr., Fred Kohler Jr., Neal Hart Jr., Bryant Washburn Jr., Frank Tinney Jr. and Eric von Stroheim Jr. The niece of Elsie Ferguson, Elsie Ferguson II also appears.

Bartlett Cormack wrote the story and Cecil B. DeMille, who directs all of his pictures on a grand scale, was the director.

A chemical preparation has been invented that enables photographs to be printed on textiles with the aid of an electric light, no fixing nor fixing solution being required

The Stars Say

For FRIDAY, OCTOBER 20

LIVELY, INTERESTING, eventful and withal pleasant day is the augury based on the predominant lunar transits, although it may be necessary to apply industry, determination and much patience to delaying, impeding and frustrating circumstances. There may be gain through writings and publishing, also through negotiations with combines.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a very lively and interesting year, with some adventures out of the ordinary, but with the energies centered upon combatting delays, obstacles, disappointments or possibly some physical handicap.

A child born on this day may be versatile, shrewd, ambitious, succeeding best in an intellectual profession.

Notable nativity: Sir Christopher Wren, architect.

PLAY TO END FESTIVAL

SCENE FROM "THE BUBBLE"

A play, "The Bubble," to be given Friday night in the Marion Steam Shovel Co. gymnasium, will bring to a close the series of fall festival entertainments sponsored by the Woman's Home Missionary society of Epworth M. E. church.

There is humor and tears in the play which centers around Gustave Mueller, his wife and their daughter, Rosie. The father operates a delicatessen store. Love interest is provided by Daughter Rosie and her newspaperman sweetheart and the villain in the play is Joseph Mahlen, a stock promoter who has no scruples about whom he entangles in his easy road to riches scheme.

The play ran for a year on Broadway when first produced and Louis Mann was starred in it.

Proceeds of the series will be used to finance the missionary pledge of the society for the year.

Tickets may be purchased at the gym for single admissions. The program will open at 8:15.

Daily Guide to Health

BY DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Scarlet Fever Danger.

SCARLET FEVER is a dreaded disease, and like diphtheria, is a dangerous one because of its serious complications. The child who recovers from it may bear many scars through life as a result of this infection. Ear complications, heart disease and kidney disease are a few of the dreaded complications of scarlet fever.

Not all children contract scarlet fever. This is probably due to a natural immunity or protection against the disease. Others are extremely susceptible to the infection and if exposed to the germs of scarlet fever will surely contract it.

The majority of people have heard about the "Schick test," which determines whether a child is susceptible to diphtheria. But few are familiar with the "Dick test," which is a similar test for scarlet fever. Unfortunately, too few persons take advantage of these great contributions of modern science. They do not avail themselves of the protection and security made possible by these tests.

By means of the Dick test, it is possible to determine whether the child is susceptible to scarlet fever. The test is simple and painless, consisting of hardly more than a slight pinprick of the skin of the arm. A tiny drop of a solution is injected. If this area becomes markedly reddened it is called a "positive" reaction and its presence means that if the child is exposed to the disease he will contract it.

When the Dick test is "positive," it is advisable that the child receive inoculation of scarlet fever vaccine. This vaccine is a preventive against scarlet fever and though not entirely successful in all instances, it is believed to be of great value in the majority of cases.

Bear in mind that scarlet fever is an extremely contagious and serious disease of childhood. It is a disease that requires expert medical attention and must never be neglected. Too often the disease is overlooked and the doctor is not called.

This is dangerous, since great damage may occur to the muscles of the heart, or the disease may involve the kidneys. In addition, neglect of the disease and failure to take the necessary precautions will lead to the spread of the disease to other children.

The victim of this disease must be isolated from all other children. The child should be kept in one room away from others and quarantined from four to six weeks. Neglect of this simple precaution may lead to a serious spread or epidemic of scarlet fever.

Every effort should be made to improve the general health of the sufferer. Prolonged and careful nursing is the only assurance of a safe convalescence, free of all dreaded complications.

Outrageous Fortune

TWENTY-SEVEN

Dire Truth

Nina watched Caroline away and begin to run. Then she took a few steps, still almost unconsciously, and then she swung round and began to walk quickly, for when the current impulse failed, Miss Caroline Dene always came back. She came back, and she came back now, but she came back slowly, like a person who is being dragged against his will. She said, "Nina, my train," she said Mrs. Rodgers, and she caught her by the sleeve. Nina felt cold with dread as Caroline came nearer and nearer. She said Mrs. Rodgers desperately, and besought her. "Nina, you must know and you must tell me. That torn out page—"

But Caroline "No!" Nina knew it, my dear Caroline, and its date. Winter, and it was there with her own eyes. Another notice, because the name signed on the dotted line was Jim's name—Jim's dear—nothing but Jim—and two great big tears welled up and splashed on to the page, and for a couple of minutes she took perfectly awful. When the book was dry again, there was the entry behind the page. I told you, she took it out, and that there identical entry was there. I s'pose I didn't notice what the initials were, but what the good of baking a cake if you don't take it out of the oven?

Caroline tried to pull her sleeve away, but she couldn't speak. Mrs. Rodgers' voice boomed in her ears. "Nina, you won't talk unless you want to, and it's not for me to say. I shall be asked or no, but one thing is, she's bound to find out—not that she or anybody round these parts 'ud ever get a young gentleman so well liked, and his family quite trouble. It's a name that has been in it, and Mrs. Henry's own son Willie Bowman, that's been caddy at golf many and many a time afore he went off to the wars—Willie seen him in the evening getting on for midnight, and hasn't told no one, only his aunt and me."

"And what were you doing Willie?" she says, and I suppose he hadn't got a word to say, so he went on doing same as everyone else that was carrying on with that night, just Gladys Garrett, down at the Three Horse Arms."

Caroline's head swam. Through a jumbled whirl of irrelevant and immediate something horrible descended upon her. She wanted to run away, but she couldn't.

Mrs. Rodgers dropped her voice to a penetrating whisper. "It was Mr. Jim Fairfax as was seen—and the initials on the torn out page was J. F."

Caroline's mouth made a shape like O. There was a kind of relief because she did not want to hear any more. She turned away from Mrs. Rodgers and ran down the hill as if by running she could get away from Jim's name.

THE clock of St. Mary Magdalene's church struck half past twelve as Caroline came into Grove road. Two things that Mrs. Rodgers had told her were clear. She was going to keep a watch on the notice board at the back of her mind, she wasn't going to let herself look at them or think about them until she and Jim could look at them together.

What she had to do now was to be sensible and practical and business-like. She had to prove from the entry in the register that it wasn't Jim who had married that horrible Nesta woman on July 25th. It stood to reason that it wasn't Jim, but she had got to prove it.

Well one glance at the register would do that because she would know Jim's writing anywhere, and she was quite sure that the entry wouldn't be in Jim's writing.

She found the office quite easily. An elderly clerk inquired her business. He had a pale plump face, and reminded her of one of those fish which flop slowly to and fro behind the plate glass of an aquarium. The light in the office was almost as opaque as water, and he had the pale unwinking stare of a fish. He had a voice that matched, high and weak.

"Please may I see an entry in the register? It's a marriage on the twenty-fifth of July."

She saw the clerk turn the page of the register—big, stiff pages with the names of men and women who had gone adventuring into marriage through this disapproving door. Perhaps if you loved anyone very much, you wouldn't mind the linoleum and the smell of disinfectant.

Here we are, said the clerk in his high weak voice. He stood aside and pointed at the left-hand page of the open book.

Caroline, a little dazed, looked down at the names. She saw Nesta's name first. Nesta Wilhelmina spinster. And then James Ridd bachelor. It wasn't Jim's writing of course it wasn't. What odd writing it was—like a child's. No it wasn't. A child wrote round hand. This was more like shaky print.

She looked up with a puzzled frown.

"What funny writing."

"What?" said the clerk. "Oh that." Written with his left hand that was on account of having his right arm in a sling, must have been accident. I think he said.

CAROLINE'S heart jumped. She didn't quite know why. Jim hadn't got his arm in a sling. Jim hadn't had an accident. Jim hadn't written that signature. Why didn't she feel all happy and triumphant? Why didn't she even feel relief? Why did she feel as if there was something horrid just around the next corner?

The clerk was speaking and she tried to give him her attention.

"If you want a certified copy, it will be five shillings."

Caroline flamed. A copy of this abominable! She made her voice gentle and polite with a terrible effort.

"No thank you."

The flame died down. She felt businesslike and rather tired. Jim Ridden's address was given as 14 Sarsden row, Nesta Williams as 5 Grove road. His father's name was James Ridden too, her father's name was Thomas Williams. She wrote down both the addresses and asked to be directed to Sarsden row.

"Third to the left, second to the right, and third to the left again," said the clerk.

Caroline turned back at the door. "Do you remember this Mr. Ridden? Could you describe him?"

The clerk's pale prominent eyes looked at her without intelligence. He had his arm in a sling."

"Oh can't you tell me what he looked like?"

"Why," said the clerk, "we get them coming in all day. I shouldn't remember about his arm if it wasn't for the writing. Said he'd never signed his name with his left hand before, and you can see what an awkward job he made of it. If it wasn't for that I wouldn't remember him."

"You can't remember at all. Not whether he was dark or fair, or short or tall?"

"No, miss. I can't, and you might take that to mean that there wasn't anything very much to remember. You take my meaning?" I might have remembered red hair, or a squint or bandy legs or anything over six foot or under five. So you may take it he was just one of the average lot, and as I said before, they keep on coming in West with births, marriages and deaths, they keep coming in all day, and after a bit you stop taking notice."

Caroline went out feeling very much discouraged.

Given in Marriage

BY ADELE GARRISON

Edith Fairfax stages another tantrum, but her idea of accompanying Dickey to the hospital is effectively vetoed by Lillian.

LILLIAN'S FACE, which had relaxed and softened at Edith's yielding, hardened again as Dicky's business associate in the art magazine they jointly owned broke off her submissive little speech to demand who was going with him to the hospital.

"All that are needed," Lillian said crisply. "But you may be very sure that you are not, so decide quickly whether you are going to stay here quietly, or be carried—kicking but not screaming: I promise you that—" she interpolated grimly, "to my room, out of the possibility of mischief."

Edith again delayed her answer, just as long, I guessed, as she dared to test Lillian's patience.

"All right," she said at last. "I'll stay here quietly, 'pon honor, if you let me speak to Dicky just once before he goes."

"That depends," Lillian said shrewdly. "Do you, by any chance, intend to ask him whether you may go with him to the hospital?"

Edith's pallid face was suddenly crimson.

"You are insufferable!" she cried.

"You are probably correct in your estimate of me," Lillian returned imperturbably, "but that does not alter the fact that in this special game I hold all the winning cards, and I am not going to wait very much longer before playing my ace."

"If you give me your word that you will not speak to Dicky about going to the hospital, and that you will say nothing to excite him, I will permit you to speak to him, although it's my wager, one hundred to one that he won't want to be bothered with anything you or anybody except Madge wants to say to him."

I was sorry that she had said the last word, guessed that Lillian regretted them herself before they were fairly out of her mouth. It was too much like twitting a bound prisoner. I mentally commented although I knew that Lillian would never have stooped to such a taunt for herself. But for me as for anyone of her family, she is implacable in punishment.

The barb had done its work, however, and roused Edith to the dignity and poise she had forgotten. She turned to Harry Underwood with an expression of infinitely disdainful weariness upon her face.

"Will you please take me upstairs to whatever room your wife is pleased to designate as my prison?" she said. "My only request is that I be permitted to lie down. I find that I am very near exhaustion."

"I think you've come to yourself, Ede," she said in a casually conversational tone. "If you have, why we'll all forget what has been said and done here in the last few minutes. Heroic measures are necessary for hysteria, you know. I humbly apologize if mine were a bit too harsh. Come on, now; be a good scout and let me take you up to your own room."

Her off-hand, cheery voice, her friendly smile were disarming to the nth degree. I was not surprised when Edith, after gazing intently at her for a long second, put out her hands, as a tired child might have done, and grasped Lillian's arm.

"Yes, yes, Lil. Let me go to bed, Lil," she said, and without further speech, either to Harry or me, Lillian led her unresisting, drooping with weariness, from the room.

But over Edith's shoulder Lillian had telegraphed an old signal of ours, which meant "Leave word," and I knew that she meant me to leave with her big husband any instructions concerning the children, or any other message I might wish to send her.

"Lil, the tigress tamer," Lillian's husband commented admiringly, when the door had closed upon the two women.

"I know of no one more skilled in the art," I returned smiling in relief from the strain of the episode just concluded. "Will you tell her these things when you see her next?"

I gave him a couple of brief messages and had hardly concluded them before the door into the library opened, and Dicky came out between my father and Hugh, leaning heavily upon the younger man, and followed closely by the physician and Katherine.

"He insists upon walking," my father said worriedly, and Harry Underwood with a sound between a snarl and growl went with such swiftness to the side of his friend that his transit reminded me of the lithe spring of some jungle denizen.

"Take his feet, Hugh!" he commanded. "Now you anointed mule," he adjured Dicky, "stand still and let me lift you."

"All right," Dicky said, dully and doubly, "but 'ware my arm."

It was but a second before the little procession started again this time with my father and myself joining the surgeon and Katherine. But when we had come to the verandah where the others were gathered Avis Allen left the rest and rushed forward.

"Oh! Hugh!" she gurgled. "Isn't there something I can do? I've taken first aid, you know."

Training for the Future.

Educators and federal officials preparing to establish schools for the unemployed are engaged in one of the most commendable undertakings created in connection with the period of unfavorable economic conditions which now seems to be on its way out.

The country has been a bit slow in awakening to the need and possibilities of this educational project, but the delay probably is easily explained. Throughout all of the period of business and industrial stagnation, attention has been centered chiefly on efforts to alleviate the situation by devising emergency work for the jobless, with no thought of providing other means to fill in idle hours where employment was unavailable. Through the slack time, which dragged out much longer than had been expected, there was also constant hope and belief that the turning point was near at hand and this attitude naturally militated against consideration of welfare projects like the free educational program now outlined.

Well, all confidently feel that the turning point actually has been passed and that employment and the universal benefits from it will steadily increase. But there are still many out of work and will be for some months to come. Measures to speed up the economic machinery and provide jobs will continue, of course. That is the one urgently important program. But in the meantime any project intended to give the unemployed opportunities to improve and equip themselves for a better and brighter future certainly is one worthy of utmost support and encouragement. That is the accomplishment, one of tremendous possibilities, promised in the educational service proposed for the jobless.

Marion has been fortunate enough to be designated as one of 17 Ohio cities where these schools will be established, with expenses paid by federal relief funds. We are informed that it will be necessary for each community to provide free quarters for the classes. Beyond doubt there will be no difficulty in meeting this requirement in Marion. Offers of suitable housing facilities should come speedily and willingly, and the same spirit should be shown in general public cooperation with those in charge of the project here.

Although this is the first movement on a large scale that has been launched to provide the unemployed with educational opportunities, smaller projects with more limited facilities for service have been tried out in recent months and have been notably successful. Especially significant has been the eagerness with which jobless persons have taken advantage of the privilege of acquiring additional learning. In Marion the "opportunity school" sponsored by the Federation of Women's clubs performed a fine service for a group of young people last winter. Ohio State university and several other colleges had large enrollments in similar free classes for the unemployed and in some instances the facilities were overtaxed.

Results of all these enterprises have shown that a large percentage of the people temporarily without gainful employment are ready and anxious to accept every aid which will better equip them for sharing in the new fruits of economic recovery that now seem to be blossoming. The benefits will be more than those coming to the students in these schools. Communities will be helped by an improved quality of citizenry.

All of which is of utmost importance, when we consider the scarcity of benefits found in an appraisal of the last few years.

A Real Test of Skill.

What might be termed Marion county's "little world series" in corn husking competition took place Tuesday on farms near Waldo. Last year's county champions won again against strong competition, which ranks them as corn huskers far above the ordinary.

And if there's anyone who thinks skill is not required to accomplish what the two premier corn huskers did in their performance of Tuesday, let him try his hand at the same undertaking. Unless he has had considerable experience and is adept at the fine points of speedy removal of husks he will end up with a record that will not come near even the tail enders in the county contest.

These husking tournaments are something

Error.

It has not been easy to [illegible] against the Roosevelt administration [illegible] doubted, a great many have been [illegible] the President anticipated mistakes [illegible] quested at the outset that they be [illegible] nized with the tolerance that is due [illegible] intentions. Errors are hard to par[illegible] however, when they are the product of good intentions.

There is one such error of recent date that is different from the others. In itself it is of minor importance. The principle involved is of great importance, however. It is the error of seeking to regulate the size of salaries in the upper regions of the moving picture industry. There need be no hesitancy in objecting to this unwarranted intention.

The objective of the recovery program is higher wages. Maximum salary and wage limits are prohibited by the national recovery act. Legally and morally, it is none of the administration's business if a handful of actors, directors and executives can command big salaries.

The apparent attempt to reduce certain large salaries is particularly offensive as it regards actors and directors. Here are two goups whose ability as employes can make or lose money for their employers. If those employers are willing to pay them large salaries who has the right to jeopardize their interests by hinting that lower salaries would fit in better with the national administration's policies?

The underpaid artist is traditional. The overpaid artist, and there are many of his group in the movie colony, is accidental. His fortunate situation happens to be created from the conflicting greed of capitalists bidding for his services. If he is able to get a fortune for a few years, depend on the fact he is making several fortunes for his employers. At best his good luck cannot last long. Yesterday's stars have disappeared and today's stars will be gone tomorrow.

The people have been heartened by two promises implicit in the recovery program. They are interested in minimum wages which will be high enough to support life, and they are interested in some kind of control over predatory capitalism. They cannot be expected to tolerate any action indicating that administrators of the recovery plan intend to tell artists how much salary they can command from employers who would be helpless without their gifts.

Performing a Function.

Termination of a strike affecting the Steubenville and Weirton plants of the National Steel Corp. is largely the accomplishment of the national labor board. Without it and without the power it is authorized to use, management and labor probably would not have been able to get together for a satisfactory settlement of their problem.

Representatives of both sides were acting in the traditional manner. They were missing no chances to show their antagonism. According to reports from Washington, they carried their hostility right into the conference room and maintained it for several hours. Realizing the amount of friction being generated, observers dared not hope for anything but a continuation of the angry impasse which has prevailed for many days.

Suddenly, the conference was over. Capitalists were shaking hands with politicians and labors' representatives were shaking hands with both. There had emerged from the deadlock without warning a solution satisfactory to all parties. All strikers would go back to their jobs without discrimination. In December they would vote in an election supervised by the national labor board to determine whether they would be represented in future dealings with management by the Amalgamated Association of Steel, Iron and Tin Workers or by an organization restricted to their company.

Without the national labor board, these things might have happened. But the board's existence made it possible for them to happen in the normal course of events. It answers, in its operations a demand for some kind of an agency of mediation which will determine the number of axes being ground in any conflict presented to it and the right of organizations and individuals to grind them.

The outcome of the National Steel Corp case increases the national labor board's prestige hugely. It is a brand new national institution with infinite possibilities of service. Its efficiency has been demonstrated. Who will be the next to take advantage of it?

Highlights of Ohio History

AN INTERESTING BIT FROM HERRICK'S LIFE.

Among the interesting stories of the early life of Myron T. Herrick is one connected with his law practice. A younger man named [illegible] he was chummy was studying law in the office of Rufus P. Ranney, leading lawyer of the Cuyahoga bar, and that gave him the entree to Ranney's office. A man named Brown, who boarded with Herrick's dad, had got into financial difficulties and his plant had to be sold to meet his liabilities. He consulted Herrick and decided there was included in the property [illegible] many patents on wagon [illegible]. Herrick told the man the patents should not be taken over by a receiver [illegible]. Herrick's friend then rushed to a lawyer he had learned. This lawyer discussed with Herrick, who suggested that Ranney be asked for an opinion. Ranney sustained Herrick's opinion and accepted a fee from the patent holder. The next time he met Herrick, however, he handed him the fee, saying he would not give him an opinion without charging a fee but as it was [illegible] criminal [illegible] the fee belongs to you."

Washington And Wall Street

BY GEORGE DURNO

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19—Confidential reports from the Far East lead many observers to believe Japan is not far removed from a war with the Russian Bear.

Tokyo had three objectives two years ago when the little brown men invaded China and Manchuria. Two have been attained.

Washington hears that many more Japanese passes at the third will mean a run-in with the Soviets.

Manchuria and Jehol have been annexed for all practical purposes. The Russian Maritime province alone remains. Japan points to its position on the map and asserts it is "a dagger pointing at her heart."

Hurried war preparations are on throughout Nippon. Armaments are being increased. Munitions manufacture is swelling. A war budget is being created. Talk of a "Japanese crisis" is general with many predicting it will burst into fiery bloom by the first of the year.

The Japs say they fear an aerial attack at any time from Vladivostok and want to wipe out the danger.

Heat between Japan and Russia over purchase of the Chinese Eastern railroad rises daily. This road is the life artery of the Maritime province. Once cut both Russia and the province would be laid out cold as it joins the Trans Siberian at Chita.

American observers are speculating on the probability of Japanese seizure of the Pescadores town. It would not be much of a military operation. A little shove would give the Japs control of the valuable coastal fisheries and also a source of friction.

Look out for a "China incident," Washington is warned.

White Elephant

In these times of depression it is refreshing to run across a case where a mortgage kept the wolf away from the old homestead door.

That is exactly the situation with the national organization of the Republican party.

If the national committee of the G. O. P. didn't have a debt to pay off those now in office would be tossed out into the cold cruel world.

Insurgent Republicans many of whom supported Mr. Roosevelt in the last election, assembled secretly to discuss plans for taking the party over.

They accused National Chairman Everett Sanders and his associates, John Cal O'Laughlin of war [illegible] dressing for Herbert Hoover, Andrew Mellon, Ogden Mills [illegible] ley et al. In another [illegible] Jim Watson of Indiana [illegible] horts with the same [illegible] aren't insurgents but [illegible] like the Hoover group.

Both factions [illegible] deficit in time. If they [illegible] committee over there'd [illegible] it off. They suggested [illegible] would be a great idea if [illegible] Sanders raised the money [illegible] lor and Mills, of course, [illegible] the Hoover forces had [illegible].

But from this point of [illegible] it appears Sanders and O'Laughlin are going to keep the [illegible] well frozen until after the [illegible] convention if they [illegible].

Imitators

President Roosevelt's NRA [illegible] permit utilities [illegible] attention abroad.

Legislation has been [illegible] in the French chamber [illegible] embodying many of the [illegible] of our recovery [illegible].

Sir Robert Horne, former [illegible] cellor of the Exchequer, [illegible] compounded by [illegible] in this country [illegible] nomic welfare [illegible].

Labor

Assistant Secretary [illegible] McGrady's threat [illegible] arbitrary federal [illegible] disputes if the [illegible] is not taken seriously [illegible] tion.

McGrady [illegible] work on government [illegible] if carried out [illegible] only a hop, skip and jump from federal domination of organized labor.

Plenty legislation would be required.

With the American Federation of Labor star climbing high in the heavens it would take a brave member of congress to sponsor such legislation. It would take a brave man to predict it would pass.

The labor vote will be treated with vastly increased respect in next year's bi-elections.

And anyway, McGrady is a dyed-in-the-wool union-card toter.

Wines

Americans soon will drink their French wines out of ingeniously sheltered bottles. The first sample shipments arriving here disclose that each bottle is protected by elaborate wire nets, double seals and whatnot. The French are afraid that with all the high import duties and taxes old Mr. Bootlegger may specialize in the bottling racket.

After the neat imitations which have been palmed off on the American public during the lifetime of the "noble experiment" can mere safeguards deter our enterprising boys?

Notes

That masterful compilation issued at the insistence of Senator McKellar of Tennessee—"Positions Not Under Civil Service," lists all of the 150,000 patronage jobs.....The Indian service is credited with a financial clerk and a physician in New York City.... Presumably to take care of the fast-disappearing Tammany braves ....This column once intimated that John T. Flynn New York financial writer, authored "The Mirrors of Wall Street".....Belatedly we report Flynn had nothnig to do with the book ...Florida and California, notorious rivals in the matter of climate and everything else, were still at it during the recent American Legion convention ....Miami got next year's convention but not before a group of California supporters had moved the fourth floor placard directing members to the convention committee to the proper room and then started a committee meeting of their own.

BY JAMES McMULLIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 — New Yorkers back from Washington are pulling a Jeremiah to their colleagues about the prospects for amending the securities act.

They did their best to sow the seed in the right places about the damage done to the capital market and recovery. They got the ears of administration circles but congressional ears were something else. There the dope was that the act might be amended all right, but not in the hoped-for direction.

They got no sympathy from the federal trade commission either. The commission insisted they were seeing ghosts and ridiculed the idea of unjust persecution. Commissioners pointed out that American divisions of English corporations have not felt it necessary to resign because of the English companies [illegible]. That was a sad blow because they expected to convert the commissioners.

Maturities

What is causing all the handwringing just now is the statistical discovery that there are almost 2 billion security issues aggregating $12 billion coming due in the next 18 months. The government's refunding position seems to be sound. Wall Street hasn't the courage to fulfill its normal functions because of the securities act new corporate [illegible] have to be created by the government itself.

Expansion

The best inside estimates indicate that the next few months will see the initiation of administration plans to promote purchasing power. The best obtainable figure on deposits to be released in closed banks is three and one-half billion dollars.

At the same time the government itself will be spending money at the rate of about $400,000,000 a month. The prediction is made with authority that $1,000,000,000 will have been put out on the public works program within six months.

Repayment

The repayment of $610,000,000 in RFC loans by banks and trust companies appears good business on the surface. But local experts say this has actually retarded recovery and criticize the RFC for being so keen on repayment. They claim the adjustment has only been possible by the liquidation of investments with a depressing effect on market prices, or by calling and refusing to extend loans at the very time the government urged the banks to bigger and better lending.

Potatoes

There's a man from Maine who sees red whenever the banks say they have plenty of money to lend on sound collateral. He has a $200,000 potato crop and has been all over New York and New England trying to borrow $50,000 against it to hire the labor to dig it up. The best he could get was an offer to lend the money after the potatoes were warehoused — which is offering a drowning man a piece of land. Such loans are accepted as normal business in good times.

Gesture

Some of the New York bankers are nervous about having crossed the government on its RFC capital plan. Sentiment is growing in favor of a new declaration of policy showing the banks as really behind the government's aim of speeding up credit machinery. A few banks are considering liberalizing their loan policies toward smaller customers in the hope of reestablishing friendly relations with Washington. Chicago seems to them to have stolen the play.

But the majority are still standing pat for the highest degree of liquidity possible.

Salaries

What have the salaries of Hollywood movie stars to do with the hardboiled executives of eastern industrial corporations? You'd be surprised.

The President's intimation that perhaps some of the film favorites are overpaid has stirred tremors among top-flight companies. They want to know why the government has to horn in on such personal matters.

If the government does get around to investigating corporate salaries it will find some paradoxes. There appears no connection between merit and pay. Officers of companies in the red for three years are drawing more than officers of successful concerns in the same industries.

Defrosting

What New York wants to know about defrosting closed banks is whether depositors who are also borrowers will be paid off in full or whether their loans will act as an offset against what they receive. It will make a difference in what the government gets back.

There are no signs yet of an offset policy. Precedent is against it in farmers' seed loans. In that case the taxpayer will ultimately hold the bag for people who incurred debt as insurance against bank failures.

Refugees

According to Dr. Paul Schwarz, former German consul, 351 refugees from Nazi persecution have so far been admitted to the United States; 306 of them are Jews.

Filling Two Jobs

An Irish M. P. is supposed to have said: "I canont be in two places at once; I am not a bird." The more versatile Gerard Swope, president of General Electric company, said by Henry Ford to be "the greatest salesman in America," has proved that he can attend to two jobs at once. He has been in Washington working on NRA problems for months, and under a large blue eagle, the General Electric's report shows for the third quarter of this year "bookings" 70 per cent in excess of the same quarter of last year, and almost 20 per cent greater than bookings in this year's preceding quarter.

The government is preparing a complicated menu to help the starving idle and help the farmer. Uncle Sam already has on hand one hundred million pounds of pork and expects to increase the supply to five hundred million pounds.

He will buy also about nine million pounds of butter every month and millions of bushels of wheat to be ground into flour. These products will be purchased through the relief corporation and distributed.

It is discovered that poultry men have "too many chickens and too many eggs," and the government will buy and give away several million dozen eggs at intervals.

Chicken is not on the menu yet, but may appear later. At least the government is rich.

Hard To Please

The dollar went down again yesterday, the franc went up. Worth 25 francs not long ago, the dollar is worth only 17 francs and 50 centimes now.

That ought to please the French, since it takes fewer francs now to buy a dollar's worth of goods in America. But nothing seems to please anybody in this topsy-turvy world.

PENSION COSTS.

The Star: Much misleading propaganda has been spent by proponents of old age pensions regarding the "cost" of such pensions. We hear that the pensions will create a new class of taxpayers. The truth of the matter is that it will not create a new tax item, but will reduce the tax burden one that already exists. Money for the needy aged, for instance, is now taking care of them in poor houses. The proposed pension law to be voted on November also will reduce the tax burden from property where relief is needed

[illegible] called by the Fraternal Order of Eagles and the Ohio Old Age Pension conference, which will be voted upon this fall in November, expressly forbids that any money be levied on real estate for pensions. It provides that any money shall be provided by the legislature from other [illegible]

Under the old age pension the pensions would be paid by the state from state funds [illegible] some other means than [illegible] land. S. H. H.

JOKESTERS WARNED BY POLICE CHIEF

Marks Says Many Hallowe'en Pranks Resulting in Damage to Property.

Warning that Hallowe'en jokes which result in damage to property will be considered misdemeanors and result in the arrest of those responsible was given this morning by Police Chief Williams E. Marks.

Jokes of a destructive kind, usually the work of youths, Chief Marks said have resulted recently in broken house and automobile windows, damage to automobiles parked along the streets and in a number of other destructive ways.

Youths thought guilty of the pranks will be arrested and held in the county detention home pending action by Juvenile Judge Oscar Gast, Chief Marks said.

In some cases the chief said air has been let out of automobile tires and the ignition turned on so as to run down the battery.

DEALINGS IN STOCK OF BANK RELATED

Chase Security Activities Brought Out by Questioning Wiggin.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 Evidence that the Chase Securities corporation participated through a subsidiary in a pool in Chase National bank stock in 1930 with power to sell short was presented today to senate investigators.

Earlier, Albert H. Wiggin, retired chairman of the bank, told the senate banking committee his family was buying the bank stock during operations in it by a pool in 1929.

The 1930 pool was formed by Chase Securities corporation and Dominick & Dominick with the latter as managers.

The investigators today said Chase bank officials were seeking to prevent an inquiry into their loans to Cuba, because of the uncertain situation in the island republic.

Chairman Fletcher told newspapermen, however, the committee probably would go into the matter to determine what the practices had been.

years was Marion's part in the national recovery program. The Chamber, acting on request of the federal government, organized Marion's NRA committee, and W. D. Brown, manager of the Chamber, was named secretary of the organization. For several weeks he devoted full time to this work, and during that time the Chamber served as the NRA headquarters. The NRA compliance board organized this week will continue to work through the Chamber.

Another phase of civic activity with which the general public is little acquainted is the Chamber's program of advertising Marion outside of this city. Thousands of bulletins listing inducements for tourists to come to Marion had been distributed to tour and automobile clubs throughout the country, extending as far west as Denver, Col. Hundreds were given away at the Ohio headquarters of the Century of Progress exposition. Highway signs were erected east of Mansfield and west of Delphos urging motorists to use route 30 South, through Marion, instead of the northern division of the route.

Another job of a more tangible nature was the Chamber's part in the drive for funds for Marion welfare agencies. The Chamber organized the campaign for funds, and is maintaining a collection bureau to receive payment on pledges and to distribute the funds to the six participating agencies, the Welfare center, Salvation Army, Red Cross, Nutrition committee, King's Daughters and City clinic.

By assisting organizations bidding for state or district conventions, the Chamber helped to bring 2,000 persons to Marion for six days this year on the State Fire Insurance convention in August and the Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters convention in September. In the preceding year, the Chamber helped to bring seven conventions to Marion.

The Chamber is the headquarters for Governor White's Farm & Home Protective committee for Marion county, an organization that intercedes in behalf of home and farm owners who are facing unusual mortgage problems. Manager Brown is secretary of this committee.

Other civic undertakings handled in a cooperative manner by the Chamber include assistance given Ohio State university in conducting its extension courses here and the chamber's part in the annual spring cleanup and paint up campaigns conducted here. The Chamber has cooperated with the Farm Bureau and Grange in their countywide programs and has furnished the Chamber offices without charge for numerous meetings of these organizations during the last year.

night as the Negro who earlier in the day grabbed Mrs. Mary Denton, 81-year-old wife of a Somerset farmer.

State police rushed the Negro to Baltimore for safe keeping when mobs began to collect. Early yesterday, over protests of the state police, he was returned to Princess Anne.

Signed Confession

State police said Armwood had signed a confession admitting the attack.

In a statement issued after the lynching, Governor Ritchie said:

"The responsibility for the Negro Armwood being in Princess Anne tonight rests upon Judge Duer and State's Attorney Robins."

Further, in reviewing his attempts to ascertain if the Negro would be safe in Princess Anne, the governor said:

"I told him (State's Attorney Robins) that if the Negro was left at Princess Anne and molested that the responsibility would rest on him. He repeated the conviction that there would be no trouble."

The governor said Judge Duer "said he had personally investigated the conditions, not only at Princess Anne, but in other adjacent localities, and assured me he was convinced there would be no trouble of any kind and that it was perfectly safe to leave Armwood in Princess Anne."

REMEDY FOR HEART AILMENT ANNOUNCED

Harvard Surgeon Says Thyroid Gland Removal Will Relieve Angina Pectoris.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 19 — The removal of normal thyroid glands to give permanent relief from the painful heart ailment, angina pectoris, is a new surgical development announced by Dr. Elliott C. Cutler of the Harvard university medical school.

"We performed our first operation a year ago. We believe that it will extend life and give permanent relief. Further than that I cannot say at this time," he told the Inter-State Postgraduate Medical Association of North America.

"There may be a newly discovered hormone, or secretion of the thyroid gland that has an interrelation between the thyroid and the heart," he said.

A few cocktails now and then won't raise your blood pressure; they may help it, the assembly was told by Dr. George A. Brown, of the University of Minnesota graduate school of medicine, Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn.

"If the people of the United States," he said, "learned to drink on a non-competitive basis as the Europeans do and would sip their wine, beer and highballs, I believe that it would reduce the irritation of the sympathetic nervous system, slow the tempo of life and probably reduce the incidence of high blood pressure."

that application for approval of projects should be filed in the state office by Nov. 15 to insure proper examination before they are forwarded to Washington.

The other development was a statement made to The Associated Press by Boulay that the public works administration has no set policy on accepting or rejecting applications in cases where present utilities are privately operated, but that applications will be received for consideration regardless of the situation.

He made it clear, however, that both sides will be given a hearing. After the filing of an application for municipal ownership from a community where existing utilities are privately owned, Boulay said the officers of the utility companies will be called upon to give their side of the story.

Statements of the company officials, together with the application for funds to finance municipal ownership, will then be submitted to the federal administration in Washington, where the final decision rests, Boulay said.

Cases of this kind are the only ones where the state office does not have authority to approve or reject requests for funds, Boulay told The Associated Press.

IMMEDIATE CHANGES NOT PLAN OF ABEL

Relief Personnel To Be Retained at Least Two Weeks.

No immediate changes in the personnel of the staff that has been conducting the city relief set up is contemplated, John Abel, who will become county relief director Monday said today.

By the word "immediate," Abel explained that for the next two weeks, at least, very little change in the working staff will be made. Some of the present employes will remain under the county plan indefinitely, he said.

Whether the transfer of relief work from the city to the county will mean the discarding of the Davids Street school building as a relief center also was not certain today. It was understood, however, that the state relief commission had recommended to the county commissioners that the commissary at the school building be abandoned.

Abel said that he expects no definite decisions to be made on the various phases of the new set up until representatives of the state relief commission come here Monday.

As county relief director, Abel will take over duties now under the direction of Emery M. Murphy, city safety director and head of the city relief department.

Death Takes David Seas, Aged Civil War Veteran

Associated With Many Activities in County; Funeral Saturday.

DAVID SEAS

Death claimed David Seas, 86, one of Marion county's oldest Civil War veterans, one of the organizers of the Grange in this county and a leader in many activities, at his home at 286 South Vine street this morning.

Death was caused by acute nephritis following hypostatic pneumonia. He had been ill 10 days.

As a school teacher, farmer, grange worker and war veteran, he was one of the best known men in Marion county. He also was known to a large audience of magazine readers, writing under the name of Vindette.

For 30 years, Mr. Seas has resided at 286 South Vine street. Before that time, he lived on a farm in Richland township on what is now known as state route 98.

Mr. Seas enlisted in Co. B of the 136th Ohio Volunteer Infantry in July, 1862, after an older brother had been killed in the battle of Gettysburg. He was sent to Virginia and later to the guard at Washington. Although his regiment did not engage in actual combat during the 121 days he was in the army, he was on duty in a battle area.

Cooper Post Officer

He was an active member of Cooper Post No. 117, Grand Army of the Republic, and for years has been the post's officer of the day. He was offered the position of commander of the post, but would not accept it.

In 1874, he was among a group of men who first organized the grange in this county. The original organization passed out of existence, but the grange movement was revived in 1908 and has flourished since that time.

Mr. Seas, as a young man, taught school for 14 winters in Marion county. His articles on a number of different subjects have been published by magazines.

Helped Found Company

Mr. Seas was one of the organizers of the Richland Township Mutual Insurance Co., and was its secretary for a number of years. He was treasurer of the farm institutes in this county for several years and served as secretary of the Pleasant township grange in the early years of its brief existence. He was justice of the peace of Richland township 40 years ago.

Mr. Seas was the son of Henry Seas and Gertrude Drollinger Seas, both natives of Baden, Germany. He was born Feb. 28, 1838, in Stark county. On May 13, 1873, he was united in marriage with Miss Mary M. Doebert, who preceded him in death 12 years.

He is survived by three daughters and two sons, Mrs. Geneva Flocken of 215 South State street, Mrs. David Schwartz of 319 Franklin street, Mrs. D. E. Montgomery of 286 South Vine street, Harper Seas of Richland township, Calvin W. Seas of 394 Hane avenue. Another daughter, Miss Lydia Seas, and an infant son, Winfield, preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2:30 p. m. at the home on South Vine street in charge of Rev. Franklin F. Markley, pastor of Epworth M. E. church, of which Mr. Seas was a member. Burial will be made in Marion cemetery. The body may be viewed at the home after noon Friday.

Hemorrhoid Sufferers

End Your Pile Misery Quick
No Cutting—No Salves

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

That is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give permanent relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause—and not one minute before. External treatments can't do this—an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts.

HEM-ROID tablets have such a remarkable record of success in this city that Henney & Cooper and all good druggists urge every sufferer to try HEM-ROID and guarantee money-back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case.—Adv.

GERMANY PREPARES FOR AIR ATTACKS

Government Moves To Promote Construction of Bomb Proof Buildings.

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Oct. 19—An unusual decree by Finance Minister Von Schwerin Korsigk indicated today Germany is getting ready in earnest to ward off any attacks from the air.

All money expended by private individuals or firms for advancing Germany's protections from air attacks can, under the decree, be deducted 100 per cent from the income in making income and corporation tax returns.

"By the treaty of Versailles," it reads, "Germany was forbidden to maintain military plans and hence we were denied the most effective weapon against air attacks."

The defense decree observes that air protection primarily concerns industrial undertakings, business with a large number of employes and house owners—all of whom should take measures of protecting their employees, plants, houses and inmates.

Measures suggested include the building of bomb-proof cellars, acquiring gas masks, installing alarm arrangements, and drilling squads in the use of defensive instruments.

Even for substituting concrete floors instead of wooden and strengthening foundations by girders, the tax reductions will be granted.

HIT THAT COLD A KNOCKOUT BLOW!

Don't Invite Serious Complications with Makeshift Remedies!

A cold is something to be dealt with promptly and decisively. You never can tell where it will end. Many a "slight cold" has been the start of a serious illness. Get after a cold quickly and get after it in the right way. A cold, being an internal infection, requires internal treatment. A cold also calls for a COLD remedy and not a "cure-all."

The wise thing to take is Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine for several reasons. Instead of a "cure-all," it is expressly a cold remedy. It is also an internal treatment which a cold, an internal infection, requires. And it is complete in effect. It does the four things necessary. First, it opens the bowels. Second, it combats the cold germs in the system and reduces the fever. Third, it relieves the headache and grippy feeling. Fourth, it tones the entire [illegible] to fortify against further attacks. Anything less than that is not complete treatment.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine contains nothing harsh and is absolutely safe to take. For more than forty years it has been the standard cold and grippe remedy of the world. The formula always keeping pace with Modern Medicine. Every druggist sells Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. 5c and 50c. Good druggists won't offer a substitute for the sake of an extra profit.

When a cold attacks, don't waste time with makeshift methods. Do it right. Ask your druggist for Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. Always ask for it by the full name and look for the letters L. B. Q. stamped on every tablet.—Adv.

DUKE BLUE DEVILS RANK WITH BEST

Marion Boy on Team Which Broke Long Tennessee Winning Streak

By The Associated Press

DURHAM, N. C.—Wallace Wade, whose Alabama teams of a few years ago made gridiron history, has built another mighty eleven in his third year at Duke university that may rank with the best in the nation.

His Blue Devils reached the peak of their power Oct. 14 when they defeated a favored Tennessee team of the Southeastern conference 10 to 2. Thus it was for Wade to be the central figure both in the start and finish of Tennessee's three-year record of 26 contests without defeat. For three years ago Wade's last Alabama club the one that whipped Washington State 24-0 in the Rose Bowl, beat the Vols. Not until Duke won this year did Tennessee taste defeat again.

Face Heavy Schedule

Duke now is the only unbeaten team in the 10-member Southern conference. To complete its campaign with a perfect record the Blue Devils must repulse North Carolina, Maryland, North Carolina State, Davidson, Kentucky, Auburn and Georgia Tech, the first three listed being conference rivals. Duke already has beaten Virginia Military, Wake Forest and Tennessee.

The football philosophy of the tall lean mentor, who was a guard on Brown's squad in the first of the Rose Bowl contests, is simple. "The doctrine of hard work is the principal factor in success. Attention to detail is, in the long run about as effective as possession of genius. A team that can block and tackle has mastered the important elements of the game."

Wade tells his players the sorriest statement anyone can make is "I did my best." That, Wade says, is the byword, the excuse of every man who has failed.

"I tell our boys we don't want players who 'do their best.' We want boys who do what it takes to succeed. It is along that line that we have made our success. Our boys are getting the spirit that commands succes.

Team Light But Versatile

Carl Voyles, Wade's assistant, who served for six years under Zuppke at Illinois, says "Wade can get as much out of his material as any coach in the nation. Given the material available at Ohio State or Notre Dame he would have world beaters.

His 1933 Duke team is not so heavy as were his great Alabama outfits. His line averages just above 185 pounds, and is led by Freddie Crawford, an all-star selection last year at tackle. Harry Rossiter, a fine end, also passes and punts well and sees as much action in the backfield as on the flank.

Three-fourths of Wade's backfield of last season was graduated, but with Nick Lapey as a halfback carryover, aided by Cornelius, Cox and Hendrickson, a versatile backfield has been constructed. Hendrickson, a husky youngster from Beaver Falls, Pa., plays quarterback. Cox is the leading Southern conference scorer.

Along with this group a Marion boy, Dick McAninch, is also turning in some classy football. McAninch, a former Marion Harding High star, played a big part in Duke's victory over Tennessee paving the way for the two Duke touchdowns with sensational dashes. McAninch grabbed a Tennessee punt at one point in the game on the Duke 30-yard stripe and sprinted clear down to the Tennessee 18 before being hauled down.

Although Duke did well in 1931 and 1932, this third year finds the Blue Devils thoroughly versed in Wade's ideas and system of football and capable now of holding their own with any team as his Alabama teams did.

Until they ran into this gang the other day, the Tennessee Volunteers had gone three seasons without tasting defeat. Coach Wallace Wade is shown with three outstanding members of the powerful Duke university team. Crawford won all-Southern honors at tackle last year. Cox is leading scorer of the Southern conference and Rossiter is a brilliant end.

STREET GETS JOB AS PILOT OF MISSIONS

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19—Charles E. "Gabby" Street, signed as manager of the San Francisco Missions, will have "complete control" of the Pacific coast league baseball club, President Joseph Bearwald said today.

"Gabby" Street

Bearwald said Street, former manager of the St. Louis Cardinals will come to San Francisco early next year to take charge of the club for the 1934 season under a one-year contract.

The Missions, one of San Francisco's two coast league teams, led the circuit in hitting but finished seventh in the 1933 pennant race.

Street was a catcher with the San Francisco Seals in 1906 and 1907, before joining the Washington Senators.

Bowling Results

The Premier Vacuum Cleaners stole the whole show last night as the Recreation bowling league assaulted the maples on the new Recreation alleys. Despite the fact, however, that the Cleaners monopolized the high scoring honors they were able to win but one of three starts against the Richmans Clothes.

Crispin, rolling second for the Cleaners, turned in only average scores in his first and third games but broke loose in the second round to pile up a 234 score for the best single game total of the evening. Crispin's three-game total was also high, totaling 552 on games of 167, 234 and 151.

The Cleaners scattered 935 pins in the second game for the highest single game team score and their three game total of 2391 was the best turned in.

None of the eight teams in the circuit were able to make a clean sweep of the three-game series.

WRIGLEY TIPPED AS NEW CUB BOSS

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 19—Out of a maze of conflicting rumors came apparently reliable information today that owner Philip K. Wrigley, would succeed the late William L. Veeck as president of the Chicago Cubs and later name a business manager to run the club's affairs.

Wrigley has been merely an interested observer since the death of his father and his inheritance of one of the best money making clubs in baseball, but he is understood to have evinced a desire to get closer to the team and take a greater interest in its affairs during the wrecking and rebuilding process that seems inevitable.

Don't Send My Boy.

By The Associated Press

MANHATTAN, Kans., Oct. 19—There's an old song at Kansas State, "don't send my boy to Nebraska" and although the Wildcats are considered about as strong as Nebraska in doping this week's game, past records carry out the idea of the ditty completely. In 17 previous encounters, Kansas State has only one victory and one tie against 15 defeats. They won the 1930 game 10-0 and played a scoreless tie in 1925. In the other years Nebraska's score have ranged from three points up to 59.

Punkinnaer of Purdue Deadly Accurate on Dropkicks.

By The Associated Press

OHIO STATE Oct. 19—The best teams in the Big Ten may get beaten, but you can mark it down as real news when Paul Pardonner misses a crucial kick for Purdue.

This Middletown (O.) science student, just rounding out a three year career with the Boilermakers, hasn't carried the ball more than a half dozen times in three seasons of stardom, but his kicking is something the boys write home about.

His soccer kicked from either foot, have saved game after game for Purdue.

In three years he has kicked for 25 points after touchdowns, 23 of those were good. The other two didn't make any difference because Purdue had won the games by wide margins.

PORTSMOUTH POUNDS PHILADELPHIA, 25-0

Presnell Leads Battering Ram Attack of Spartan Eleven.

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19. Glenn Presnell the lad whose praises drew used to sing during his college days at Nebraska, led the Portsmouth Spartans' battering ram attack to a 25 to 0 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles, last night.

A ball carrying flash, the Nebraska signal-caller toted the leather over for one of the Spartans three touchdowns, and booted one of a pair of field goals the league's second place club tallied during the contest.

The other three pointer was a thrilling 40-yard placement by Johnny Cavosi.

Held scoreless, and at times even outplayed, in the first quarter, the Spartans loosed a power offensive with the start of the second period, climaxed by Presnell's 32 yard sprint for a tally. Just before the half closed the Nebraskan added his field goal.

Early in the second half, the Spartans added their second touchdown, Ernie Cadell, one time Stanford ace, circling end for 22 yards and the score.

Presnell's 64-yard pass to Gene Alford, in the closing quarter, netted the third touchdown which was followed a few moments later by Cavosi's accurate placement.

BUCKEYE'S CONFLICT WITH MICHIGAN IN MIDWEST SPOTLIGHT

Princeton - Columbia Clash in East Also in Fore of Week's Schedule.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK Oct. 19—Of all the big games on the football slate this week, one in the east and one in the midwest seem to be attracting most of the attention. The eastern fracas is Princeton vs Columbia and the midwestern is the Michigan Ohio State clash.

There's a lot of traditional interest behind both games and when the teams appear to be among the leaders in their respective sections they are "naturals" for the crowds. There seems to be little doubt that the winner between Michigan and Ohio State will be headed right for the Western conference title, barring, of course, the upsets which always may and frequently do take place. Extra seats have increased the Michigan stadium capacity to 87,000 to take care of the expected crowd.

Princeton and Columbia not only have two of the most promising teams in the east and a history which runs but the indications are the game will be about the most attractive in the eastern sector Saturday. About 50,000 people are expected to turn out to see how much progress "Fritz" Crisler has made in his second year as Tiger coach.

There are plenty of other attractive contests on the eastern slate and in the midwest, notably the intersectional clashes between Illinois and Army at Cleveland and Pittsburgh and Minnesota at Minneapolis, but most of them have a weak spot somewhere. The Big Ten schedule includes Chicago-Purdue, Iowa-Wisconsin and Northwestern-Indiana but none of these games can measure up to the Ohio State-Michigan battle.

The east offers Carnegie Tech vs. Notre Dame, Yale-Brown, Fordham-Boston college and Penn-Dartmouth, all involving unbeaten teams, and the more or less historic renewal of the Cornell-Syracuse rivalry. Only Fordham in this list has yet given any indication of having a team of championship calibre. The others all have had their troubles here and there. Likewise Colgate's fted Raiders appear a bit too strong for a once dangerous rival, New York university, and the Harvard-Holy Cross game looks as usual like a good stiff tussle which won't mean a lot when it is over.

IN ONE WAY THIS LOOKS LIKE MY PLACE AND THEN AGAIN IT DOESN'T! MAYBE I'VE WALKED INTO THE WRONG HOUSE!
COME BACK, CASPER! THIS IS YOUR HOUSE, BUT NO WONDER YOU DON'T RECOGNIZE IT AFTER THE WAY AUNT BLIMPEY HAS BEEN CHANGING THE FURNITURE AROUND FROM ONE ROOM TO ANOTHER! SH-H-H! SHE'S CALLING ME AGAIN!

IN ONE WAY I'M GLAD SHE'S HERE TOOTS BECAUSE IT'S GOING TO SEEM SO GOOD WHEN SHE LEAVES!

SINKING SPELL HITS MARKET

Intermittent Tonics Fail To Keep Shares On Upgrade.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 Financial markets were afflicted with chills and fever again today, and, despite intermittent tonics, nervous sinking spells were frequent.

Several stocks displayed resistance to selling pressure at times but the majority were inclined to slip to levels that, in some instances, violated the support figures of the chartists. Rails and a few industrials were rather heavy. There was an attempt to raise prices soon after noon, but the trading volume continued largest on the downturn. Grain and cotton sagged a bit.

Shares of National Distillers received support and advanced some two points. U. S. Smelting, American Can, Atlantic Refining and Johns-Manville converted early losses into moderate [illegible]. Pacific dropped about 3 [illegible] dustrial Alcohol and Bethlehem Steel were off around [illegible] and losses of fractions to a point or more included Allied Chemical, U. S. Steel, Liggett & Myers, B. American Telephone, Du Pont, Chrysler, Case, Western Union, American Commercial Alcohol, American Smelting, Santa Fe, New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio and Westinghouse.

There was some increase in short selling reported, but the total is still considered too low for the "safety cushion" which most brokers believe necessary for a healthy market. That the short account has not grown to any great extent in past weeks is indicated by the fact that no important new issue is now lending at a premium.

POWER PLANT FIGHT PUSHED

Special to The Star

KENTON, Oct. 19—City solons today prepared to continue their battle for a municipal power light plant to be constructed, if at all, from a federal loan of $442,900 and a federal grant of $112,100—by retaining William T. Ladkin, an engineer of Springfield, O., for $2,500 to collect all necessary data and information, file all plans, estimates and specifications, and receive and hire all assistant engineers, draftsmen, attorneys and assistants as may be "necessary to properly complete" the city's application for the municipal light project.

The engineer, whose pay is to be met with an advance on the 1934 tax revenue, is to file detailed reports, plans and specifications upon method of construction, operation and the probable revenue that may be realized through operation of a municipal plant.

Completing its legislation for the fight to obtain federal funds by establishing a municipal electric plant fund, council authorized the transfer of $2,500 to that fund from the general fund, which at present has a balance of $56,57, according to records of Auditor Willis C. Popp. The fund transfer will be effected within the next few weeks from money to be advanced by the county auditor in anticipation of December tax revenues, it was said.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards a well-known physician in Ohio perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c 30c and 60c.—Adv.
